Acting on their own observations and viewing the official replays, Stewards were of the opinion that Gary Give Up had suffered interference approaching the first turn and then was subsequently off balance before bumping with Arcadian Bandit which resulted in that greyhound momentarily turning its head outwards. Due to the interference suffered, Stewards could not ascertain whether this was a voluntary action and took no further action against the greyhound. In relation to Gary Give Up displaying hypoxia after the event and collapsing in the catching pen, Stewards stood Gary Give Up down for 6 days in accordance with the hypoxia policy and further ordered that the greyhound be stood down until the completion of a satisfactory trial pursuant to GAR74(1).
